

COMPANY PROFILE

Established in 1962, as a typewriter repair company, our philosophy remains the same, to be totally committed to servicing our client's individual requirements and providing a pro-active value for money professional approach. We have an ever expanding head office and a state of the art, 11 million cubic feet warehouse and distribution centre located in the heart of the country, to this day Bates Office continues to grow and prosper.

The company has an ethos of respecting our customers our staff and our environment. This is reflected in customer and staff loyalty (retention levels unheard of in the industry) and the implementation of a corporate social responsibility policy which ensures a brighter future for our community.

With the emphasis on personal customer care and keen prices Bates Office has now become the first choice supplier for public and private sector contact customers, all of whom have re-awarded contracts year after year.

We believe we most cost-effective and reliable one-stop office supplies company in the UK. Keen prices, personal service and customer care
